Free Open Access Medical Education (FOAMed) has so much to offer in terms of access, content, and modes of delivery – 24/7! Having access to emerging content when it suits us provides an excellent opportunity to stay up to date with new advancements, professional development, and life-long learning.

Can you trust clinical information that is shared for free on social media? How do you know which FOAMed sites to use? Whether you are an avid FOAMed user, have never heard of FOAMed, or are somewhere in between and sceptical, join us for this webinar with Judy Sheahan as she endeavors to equip you to safely navigate the FOAMed space, and use it to your advantage.

Speaker: Judy Sheahan

Judy is a South African Emergency Care Practitioner (Intensive & Critical Care Paramedic) who has been teaching in Paramedicine for the last 10 years all over the world. She currently works at Edith Cowan University, teaching on the CCP master's program.
